Valentine's Day: 10 readers in love & an ode to RDR

We asked a handful of our readers to name the asset class they really love this Valentine's Day, while one romantic chose to pen a poem for RDR.

Ian Williams, chief executive officer, Charteris Treasury Portfolio Managers

Valentine's Day statistically brings the highest number of marriage proposals of any day in the year - along with gifts of gold, silver & diamonds to the recipient of the marriage proposal.

That being so why not make every day Valentine's Day and buy gold & silver anyway. 2014 looks set to be a very good year for these metals (and the gold and silver mining companies) having already started this year on top of the performance tables.

Romance is alive and well in the Way Charteris Gold & Precious Metals Fund which is up over 20% in 6 weeks since 1st January. At this rate of return the romantically inclined can afford to buy the object of their desire an even more expensive present.
